—INTERSTATE SCHEDULE—

Lincoln-GI Contracts By Spring, 1961

Project Agreement Ready By Mid-1960

By Betty Person

State Highway Dept. plans confirmed Friday that project agreements on the Grand Island-North Platte segment of the Interstate Highway are scheduled to begin in mid-1960, with the first construction contract expected to be let by spring of 1961.

Exact location of the route, long in dispute between those favoring a route north of the Platte River and those desiring a location south of the river, is expected to be settled next week.

The governor's office has confirmed that the Highway Dept. actually is ready to begin preliminary work to establish ground-control points, first step in the long process of building the super-highway, immediately upon federal approval of the route, which should come within 30 days.

Another phase of Interstate planning revealed Friday is that Nebraska could lose about $7 million in federal funds June 30 this year, unless it is committed to engineering and right-of-way within the city of Omaha, including the controversial downtown Route 3, and also within the vicinity of Lincoln.

About $11 million of the $18 million which must be put under project agreements with the Federal Bureau of Public Roads by June 30, 1960, will be spent on construction to complete the Lincoln to Omaha segment of the highway.

As explained by Acting State Engineer John Hossack, Nebraska would be in a "tight predicament" if it could not spend some funds on the downtown Omaha route, because there is no other location where plans are developed to provide for such expenditures.

The situation could become "critical," Hossack said, during the first 6 months after fiscal 1961 funds become available to the state (beginning July 1 this year), because without Route 3 there would be no place to use this additional money.

Robert Conrad, administrative assistant to Gov. Ralph Brooks, said this situation confirmed that stopping work on the downtown Omaha route would create "a dangerous financial hazard" for

Caril Fugate Appeal Nixed

...U.S. SUPREME COURT NEXT

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday turned down Caril Ann Fugate's request for a new hearing—the last step she could take in her appeal in the state courts.

But her attorney, John McArthur, said he will take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The State Caril

Court on Dec. 11 affirmed Miss Fugate's conviction.

She had been convicted and given a life sentence in Lancaster County District Court for her part in the Jan. 27, 1958, murder of Robert William Jensen, a Bennet youth.

With Starkweather

Charles Starkweather, who has since been executed, was also convicted of the same murder, one of 11 killings attributed to him.

Miss Fugate, now 16 years old, is serving her life sentence at the Women's Reformatory at York.

vegetable crop in Florida. Temperatures dropped into the mid-20s in many farming areas of Florida early Friday and forecasters held little hope for anything but continuing freezing or frost in the sunshine state overnight and Saturday.

In Springfield, Mo., a deep freeze was caused when a natural gas supply line was broken in temperatures around the 10 degree mark.

Workmen repaired the break in the 10-inch main, but the tedious process of restoring service to individual consumers is expected to take another day.

Officials estimated it would be late Saturday before the job is completed.

So, many residents spent another night shivering in cold homes, with heat coming from electric heaters, pads, blankets, oil burners and wood fire places.

Envoy Bonsal, Ike Denounced

Castro Seizes Publisher Zayas' Newspaper

Havana (P)—President Eisenhower and U.S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal drew Cuban fire Friday in a bitter editorial on the Cuban-Spanish diplomatic crisis. The editorial suggested that all traitors and scoffers leave Cuba.

Bonsal was accused by the semi-official newspaper Revolucion of shamefully backing Spanish Ambassador Juan Pablo Lojendio, expelled for interrupting a TV attack by Prime Minister Fidel Castro on Spain and the United States.

Bonsal

President Eisenhower's Madrid meeting with Generalissimo Francisco a month ago—one stop on the Eisenhower 11-nation good will tour—was called immodest and worse.

The front page blast came on the eve of Bonsal's departure for Washington consultations that may amount to his recall until there is a distinct change in relations between the United States and Castro's government.

Bonsal drove to the Foreign Ministry to inform Acting Foreign Minister Marcelo Fernandez of his summons to Washington.

After his 20-minute interview with Fernandez, Bonsal told newsmen he had no comment on Castro's TV charges against the United States.

Hot Water Before

Massu, who has been in hot water before for speaking out on Algerian political questions, most recently incurred government displeasure as a result of an interview in a German newspaper which quoted him as criticizing De Gaulle's Algerian policies.

GEN. MASSU

fell and De Gaulle became president of the 5th. No official reason was given for Massu's dismissal but it obviously was the result of his outspoken criticism of the May 1958 Algiers revolt that restored De Gaulle to power in France.

De Gaulle's actions now are expected to send tensions even higher in the war-torn North African territory. Massu, a tough, hawk-nosed paratroop general, is a hero of the European residents of Algeria who bitterly oppose any concessions to the Algerian Nationalists.

Paris (P)—President De Gaulle stuck stoutly to his Algerian peace policy Friday and fired Gen. Jacques Massu as commander of the Algiers area. Ironically, Massu had been in the forefront of the May 1958 Algiers revolt that restored De Gaulle to power in France.

De Gaulle's actions now are expected to send tensions even higher in the war-torn North African territory. Massu, a tough, hawk-nosed paratroop general, is a hero of the European residents of Algeria who bitterly oppose any concessions to the Algerian Nationalists.

He is a typical French soldier's soldier who fought with valor in World War II and in Indochina and had a hand in the 1956 British-French invasion of Egypt in the ill-starred Suez campaign. Massu now is 51 years old and robust.

Set Up Regime

In the midst of rioting in Algiers on May 13, 1958, Massu set up a rightist military regime and called on the then President Rene Coty to bring De Gaulle back for a strong man role as premier in Paris. The 4th French Republic later

—Clue Arises In 1956 Mystery—

CREWS RUIN HIGHWAY IN GRIM BODY HUNT

Montgomery, Ala. (P)—Work crews drilled beneath a highway Friday in a grim search for 3 men feared slain in 1956 and buried in their car in a dirt-and-asphalt grave while the road was being built.

Public Safety Director Floyd Mann ordered the probing operations continued until the car is located beneath the roadbed near Birmingham, or until state investigators are convinced it isn't there.

Big Gear

If the drills strike metal, Mann said highway department workmen will go into the roadway with heavy earth-moving equipment.

The disappearance of Billy Howard Dye, 19; his brother, Robert Earl, 23, and their cousin, Dan Brasher, 38, on March 4, 1956 was almost forgotten until Mann got a tip last week from Police Chief Tommy Ward of Fairfield, a Birmingham suburb.

Ward said he had information that the missing men were killed at the site of the road while it was under construction and their bodies and the car buried beneath the roadbed.

State investigators and highway department specialists pinpointed the area where the car might be found by checking progress reports on the road building project.

Just Vanished

The Dye brothers and Brasher vanished from sight after leaving the home of Brasher's mother, Mrs. Bessie Brasher.

They left behind some $85 in unclaimed wages earned while working—ironically—on another highway construction project. No trace has been found of the men or the 1957 model car in which they were last seen.

Denies Sabotage

Spears' wife said today her husband had denied to her that he had sabotaged an airliner.

But she admitted another man could have been hypnotized into taking Spears' seat on the doomed craft.

Mrs. Frances Spears also said at Dallas, Tex., she would not have accepted the $100,000 in insurance carried by her husband's life. She said she told her husband this when he made a secret visit to Dallas, Jan. 7, almost two months after the National Airlines crash.

Spears, with a long criminal record, was a student of hypnosis. Authorities have speculated he might have induced a long-time friend, William Taylor of Tampa, Fla., to take his seat aboard the doomed plane.

13 Years With Law College

University of Nebraska Law Professor Willard B. Cowles died Friday night at the age of 60.

Cowles, with the University

14-year department for 13 years, served as a legal advisor to the Sec. of State John Foster Dulles in 1954.

The University gave him a year's leave to accept the State Department position. He taught international law and conflict of laws.

Cowles, who was born in Plainville, Conn., was active at the University up to his death.

He was active as a member of the American Bar Assn., American Society of International Law and the Cosmos Club, Washington, D.C.

Survivors include his wife, Helen; daughter, Nancy; brothers, Roger of Fort Myers, Fla., and Sidney of California; sisters, Mrs. Marion Littlejohn, Pine Orchard, Conn., and Mrs. Laur Crump, New Britain, Conn.

U.S. SENATORS ARE AROUSED

Washington (P)—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) called Friday for a "careful re-evaluation" of U.S. Cuban policies.

Wiley, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, spoke out in a statement as Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) told the Senate that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's "personal vendetta against the world" and his anti-American policies have reached the point of no return.

The question of U.S. military intervention in Cuba was raised by House Foreign Affairs Committee members at a closed door session with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. Herter assured the members there was no thought of any such intervention.

China Boasts Of Production Triumphs

GRAIN GOAL IN 1959 NOT ACHIEVED

Tokyo (P) — Communist China reported Friday it had failed by 4,950,000 tons to achieve its 275-million-ton grain target for 1959.

But in a glowing communiqué on production, it boasted that last year was one of "great triumph" both in industry and agriculture. All other major goals, it said, were reached or bettered.

The communiqué, broadcast by Peiping Radio, called this a vindication of Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung's controversial peasant communes and his "great leap forward" policy aimed at overtaking Britain's industrial might in a decade.

National steel output, one of the important indices to Red China's industrial progress, climbed to 13,350,000 tons, a big 67% increase over 1958, the State Statistical Bureau said. It gave these other figures:

Great Gains Claimed

Pig iron registered a staggering 115% gain to 20% million tons.

Coal totaled 347,800,000 tons, up 29%.

Cotton reached 2,410,000, an increase of 14.7%.

"The great achievements of 1959 powerfully testify to the absolute correctness of the general line for building socialism, the big leap forward rate of development and the people's commune form of organization, all of which were proposed by the Communist Party and Comrade Mao Tze-tung," the bureau said.

Critics within Mao's own party and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev have criticized the communes, which in 1958 mobilized the nation's 500 million peasants into 27,000 independent, self-sustaining work units.

"Of particular significance was the tremendous role played by the people's communes in the continued big leap forward," the communiqué said.

Goals Slashed

China's grain production—the foundation stone of its entire industrial expansion program—originally was set at 525 million tons. Steel was to have been 18 million tons, coal 380 million tons and cotton 5 million tons.

But in August, China's leaders admitted the "great leap forward" in 1958 had faltered and the rosy production picture for that year had been false. As a consequence 1959 goals were drastically reduced.

China had claimed a 375 million-ton grain output in 1958. This was corrected to 250 million. But the communiqué reiterated earlier claims that the second 5-year plan, scheduled to end in 1962, has been fulfilled 3 years ahead of time.

COURT TAKES 8 YOUNGSTERS FROM MOTHER

Eight children found earlier this month living in a home which police termed unbelievably filthy were taken from the custody of their mother Friday in Juvenile Court.

District Judge Harry A. Spencer gave custody of the children, who range in age from 1 to 11, to their father. The parents are divorced and the mother had been granted their custody.

Judge Spencer said it would be "criminal" to allow the children to remain in such surroundings. He found them dependent and neglected children.

Police said the mother's house was filled with trash and dirt and that a cereal bowl had worms in it.

Missing Dog Back With Tot

...Rebel Returned

Scotty and Rebel are together again, and the 2-year-old boy's 36-hour ordeal is over.

It began Wednesday afternoon when Scotty Runyan's parents took the German shepherd—Rebel—to the veterinarian's for surgery on a badly-cut paw.

The dog, dazed by anesthetic, ran away, and Scotty, with the grief that a child feels when his pet is lost, cried himself to sleep and prayed for Rebel.

His parents—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Runyan of 4241 Y—asked The Star to help find Rebel. Lincoln looked for the pet . . . and it paid off.

Deluged

Mrs. Runyan was deluged with calls from well-meaning Lincolnenites Thursday, but the animal was not found. Friday the family was offered 2 German shepherds, a golden retriever, one cocker spaniel, a beagle and even a lion cub to replace the boy's pet.

Friday morning Mrs. Dale Boettcher of 7001 Starry and her daughter JoAnn recognized the dog near her home, limping with a white bandage on its paw. She coaxed the dog into her home and fed it. Rebel had not eaten for two days. She called the Runyans and Rebel went home.

Rebel slept again at Scotty's feet Friday night.

Voroshilov made reference to Wednesday's Soviet rocket test in the Pacific and said, "This is another important step ahead on the way to harnessing outer space and testing flights toward planets of the solar system."

DEVICE 'TALKS' FISH INTO MASS SUICIDE

Salisbury, Md. (UPI)—The trawler closes its big net around the school of menhaden, a fish used for oil and fertilizer. But instead of going through the laborious, time-consuming job of hauling in the net, dumping the catch on board and sorting out the menhaden from the other fish, the skipper waves his arm and a big hose with an electrical gadget fastened to the end is lowered into the water inside the bobbing floats.

The menhaden in the trap look much like raw recruits following the bawling orders of a top kick. They line up, two or 3 deep, on front of the hose and actually swim toward its mouth. The hose sucks them into the trawler's hold.

Both the other types of fish belong to another platoon. They ignore the unseen caller. And, after the line of menhaden has run out, the net is loosened and the others freed without a bruise.

Electric Current

It's all done with electrical current that "talks" to the fish.

The system of fishing electrically was explained here by Otis H. Smith, who operates one of the world's biggest fisheries.

Eight years ago he hired a German scientist, Dr. Conrad Kreutzer, who was convinced that fish communicate with each other through impulses formed by tail and fin movements. And that each species—and even varying sizes—use different types of impulses.

They've proved it works with menhaden. Now Smith and Kreutzer are convinced they eventually can fish for any type and size of fish simply by adjusting a dial.

Already they have been asked to come up to Long Island Sound and call up all the star fish that have destroyed much of the once productive oyster beds. And the Chilean whalers want him to lure the big ones their way.

Anybody want to trade a battery for a can of worms?

Interstate Highway Schedule Detailed

A spokesman for the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads has defined the basic principles behind Interstate Highway priorities as one related to two factors: service and mileage, with service the predominant factor.

The Federal Highway Act intends that the Interstate Highway should be completed on the basis of providing service where the need is greatest as fast as possible.

The entire time table for Nebraska's Interstate Highway System, evolved from years of engineering studies, shows these plans:

Phase 1—from the Milford Corner to the Missouri River, total of 92.9 miles: beginning date, 1958, estimated completion date, 1964. Total cost, $135,844,000, which includes $25,897,000 for right-of-way, $4,998,000 for engineering, and $105,039,000 for construction.

The Omaha (Douglas County) segment of Phase 1 includes:

—Construction of Route 1 (main Interstate route through Nebraska) from the L Street interchange near the Douglas-Sarpy County line to the 31st and Grover interchange.

—Construction of about 3 miles of Route 5 from the L Street interchange with Route 1 to Dodge Street at 105th.

—Construction of Route 3 through downtown Omaha from the 31st and Grover interchange to a Douglas Street crossing of the Missouri River.

Beginning date for this work was 1958, and estimated completion date is 1964.

Remainder of the work on Route 5 around Omaha to the Mormon Bridge is expected to begin in 1968, with completion scheduled in 1972.

Similarly, remainder of the work on Route 1 from the 31st and Grover interchange to the Spring Street Bridge is also scheduled to begin in 1968, with completion scheduled for 1972.

Total estimated cost of the Omaha-Douglas County segment of the Interstate Highway System, including the 1972 completion of Routes 1 and 5, is $81,224,000. Of that amount, $21 million will not be spent until Routes 1 and 5 are completed.

The $81.2 million total is broken down this way: $21,878,000 for right-of-way, $2,751,000 for engineering, and $56,595,000 for construction.

This also includes $12,542,000 for the 3 bridges crossing the Missouri River. This figure represents Nebraska's state-federal share of the costs, and does not include

'Some Drug Ads Don't Tell Story'—Specialists

Washington (UPI)—Two research specialists testified Friday that the medical journal advertising of some large pharmaceutical houses does not tell doctors that certain popular tranquilizers can be habit forming.

The testimony came from Dr. Fritz Freyhan, research director at the Delaware State Hospital in Farmhurst, Del., and Dr. Heinz E. Lehmann of the Verdun Protestant Hospital in Montreal, Canada.

Dr. Henry Brill, deputy commissioner of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, testified that "addition has not been a significant problem" with 100,000 patients treated with tranquilizers at his state's Freyhan and Lehmann specifically mention tranquilizers produced under the trade names of Miltown and Equanil.

Brill said meprobamate is one of the drugs used in the New York hospital with no significant addiction problem. Lehman was asked whether doctors could be misled by cases.

Picture Out Of Focus

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Unfortunately for the state of Nebraska, the Interstate Highway question has become embroiled in a battle which will leave much bitterness and division in its wake. Just how this has come about is hard to actually pinpoint, but it is important if anything is to be salvaged out of the confusion, mistrust and prejudice that exist that the public fully understand all the facts involved.

There are two focal points in the simmering question of priority of funds for Interstate work. One of these points is in the person of Gov. Ralph Brooks, and the other is a newly formed group known as Greater Nebraska Interstate, Inc. These are two points seemingly now poles apart and perhaps if fault is to be found with them there might be some on both sides. But if all the facts in this situation are made known, the governor's responsibility, and they are given fair and honest consideration, the corporation's responsibility, a place of agreement and mutual benefit can be reached.

The Lion's Share

The objective of Interstate, Inc., according to its articles of incorporation, is to secure "fair and equitable early priorities for the construction of the outstate Nebraska Interstate highway and to research, compile and disseminate material and information related to its immediate and early need, development and progress."

To this there is not a fair-minded person who could object. This includes Gov. Brooks — and we would be very surprised if he would not agree wholeheartedly with this statement of objectives. But the stated objectives and how they are achieved are two different things. In this case, achievement is being sought by no better than an equal dose of positive and negative thinking.

The corporation, in everything it has said and done, has sought to further the cause of the Interstate in outstate areas by the elimination of work on what is known as Route 3 of the Interstate in Omaha. This is the route which runs northeast from 31st and Grover in the south part of Omaha up to Dodge and through downtown Omaha and across the Missouri River into Iowa. It is reported that this route will take some $45 million or more to complete — all of the funds which will be available to Nebraska for Interstate work over the next three to possibly five years.

It is no wonder that this would make the blood boil in citizens from Lincoln west to the Colorado line. It is easy to understand how such a picture could create a highly emotional situation in which vengeance gets the better part of sound judgment and reasoning. It is logical, on the basis of this fact and a few others almost equally as startling when viewed in such a pure form, that efforts to stop construction of Route 3 would gain a big following.

Lack Of Aggression

But these are the facts only in their simplest form and, therefore, provide a dangerous basis on which to act. To understand this situation, it is important that you understand how the priority for Route 3 came into being. Exactly how it was established and by what individual are something no one has yet been able to put his finger on. But it is known that the priority was established sometime prior to the end of 1958, presumably by former State engineer L. N. Ress.

Again, all the reasons for its establishment are not known, but some are. Was it a political plum for Omaha? Perhaps it was, and it is certainly known that Omaha actively sought this priority under the past Republican administration and nursed it along under the following Democratic administration. But we might as well be realistic rather than vindictive about this. Lincoln and the rest of the state have been fat boys in this business of the Interstate. Omaha has out-hustled us and out-maneuvered us at every turn.

If you want to condemn this, you may be morally justified in doing so, but that is the way this business works. If you don't want to play in the game, you really have little justification to object when someone else makes a score. Granted, Lincoln did want a Northeast Diagonal connection with the Interstate, something similar to Omaha Route 3, and asked the state to get it for the city. But the city was not really aggressive in this and was absolutely passive and indifferent to everything else connected with the Interstate.

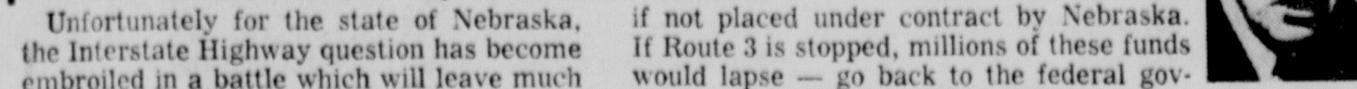

Outside, a battle raged over whether the Interstate should go north or south of the Platte River. No construction, certainly, and little by way of planning could be done until this location question was settled. It still is not settled and this is the fault of the outstate areas involved more than it is the fault of any governor.

Omaha's Position

In light of all this, it seems that we are almost forced to ask ourselves if we are being entirely fair in condemning Omaha for the work being done there. It has never been our belief that Omaha has co-operated with the rest of the state of Nebraska as it should. The animosity toward Omaha which that city has helped bring upon itself has hurt Nebraska and this current issue of Route 3 is fanning that destructive fire.

That, in fact, is one of the most unfortunate aspects of this entire situation. Nebraska will not prosper and solve its many problems so long as Omaha and the rest of the state are fighting each other. And Lincoln is playing a dangerous game if it is entertaining any thoughts of a Lincoln-outstate coalition achieved at the expense of Omaha persecution. In the final analysis, everyone will lose much more from this than will be gained in the expediency of today. For this and the sake of the Interstate itself, it is vital that the points at odds in this issue be brought to a meeting of the minds, even though it may be done reluctantly by them.

As we said, the spending of all of Nebraska's Interstate money — $45 million — through downtown Omaha for the next three to five years is a damaging piece of evidence. But first, let us look at what might happen if this work were stopped today. On June 30 of this year some $18 million in federal Interstate funds will lapse less than two years.

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson is one of the few top Democrats not attending the big democratic dinner in Washington tonight. There's a significant conversation behind his absence.

When Oscar Chapman, chairman of the dinner committee, called to invite Adlai, the former Democratic candidate replied:

"I'm not a candidate and if I speak at the dinner it will look as if I am. If I keep on this speaking circuit as I did in New York, it'll look as if I am trying to get drafted."

Despite a lot of urging, Stevenson stuck to his guns.

The biggest and 49th state, Alaska, has three potent and able congressional representatives in Washington, but they are not as potent as the steamship lobby.

They were not able to stop the Maritime Board from handing a juicy rate increase to the Alaska Steamship Co. just 24 hours after President Eisenhower appealed to Congress to hold the line against price and wage increases.

The Alaska Steamship Company, which handles over 90 per cent of Alaskan shipping, grimly agreed. They pointed out that the steamship companies had been granted a 15 per cent rate increase only a year ago. The 26 1/2 per cent total, they claimed, is being passed on to the consumers.

No Conservative Senate Coalition

WASHINGTON — A durable Senate conservative coalition is ruled out this year by presidential politics on both sides of the aisle.

The many Democratic senators who are eyeing the national ticket, especially Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, cannot afford the passive attitudes and compromises of the past few years. The evidence of their changed temper appeared in the first legislative debate of the session when a liberal coalition put teeth in the clean elections bill with surprising ease.

For Vice-President Richard Nixon and the party he will lead into the election, it is desirable to have some part of their forces in the congressional arena turn at least a modestly liberal face to the voters. Nixon's choice of the Senate for this role was shrewdly done for many reasons, not least of which is the fact that senators and the Senate get much more attention than the large, unyielding house.

Of course, it is possible also that we will have less money but it would be a fair guess that the majority of opinion would be in the opposite direction. If such a possibility came to pass, it would be a ludicrous battle that we have now joined. For naught would be all our efforts and the very harmful repercussions which are likely to evolve from this current dispute. What, then, would we think of the geographic splits we had created, the political bias we had engendered and the legislative monstrosities to which we are likely to give birth as a result of today's misguided efforts?

Another reason is that the newer Republican senators from the big states so important to presidential success were demanding an end to Old Guard domination on issues important to them.

This group is led by Senators Jacob Javits and Kenneth Keating of New York and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

It is a political imperative that they should personally show results on issues such as civil rights, education and housing if they are to remain in the Senate. It is highly desirable that they should be able to remain in the Senate. It is highly desirable that they should be able virtuously to proclaim next fall that most Republicans are on the side of the angels in the chamber over which the vice-president presides. Nixon himself would naturally prefer not to break his votes this session in father.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Heralds Of Christ, Who Bear The

King's Commands

Heralds of Christ, who bear the King's commands,

Immortal tidings in your mortal hands,

Pass on and carry swift the news ye bring:

Make straight, make straight the highway

of the King.

Where once the crooked trail in darkness

wound,

Let marching feet and joyous song re-

sound;

Where burn the funeral pyres, and censers

swing,

Make straight, make straight the highway

of the King.

Lord, give us faith and strength the road to build,

To see the promise of the day fulfilled,

When war shall be no more, and strife shall cease

Upon the highway of the Prince of Peace.

By HORACE B. POWELL

This magnificent and powerful missionary hymn has been sung in churches of many religious denominations for well over half a century.

Its verses were written in 1894 by Mrs. Laura S. Copenhagen of Marion, Virginia. Its music, composed two years earlier by George William Warren, a New York organist, is known as "National Hymn."

Mrs. Copenhagen's father founded Marion College and she herself taught English literature there for more than three decades. Her hymn was sung for the first time at a missionary conference at Northfield, Massachusetts and later was published by the Women's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church. It has been used by missionary women of several church denominations to keynote programs of Christian world service.

Explosively confident Harry S. Truman returned to Washington to raise a little political hell and making a ringing declaration that the next president of the U.S. will be a Democrat.

He has made up his mind at long last, the former President said in answer to a question about his personal choice, but he's not naming the man at this time.

Best new guess: Lyndon Johnson.

Bleak quote from a speech by Gen. Tom Power, commander in chief, Strategic Air Command, before the Economic Club in New York: (It was uttered in 1951 by Dimitry Z. Manuilsky, later head of the Ukrainian delegation to UN) — "War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in 20 or 30 years. To win, we shall need the element of surprise. The bourgeoisie will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. There will be electrifying overtures and unheard of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to co-operate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them down with our clenched fist."

Dick Nixon was given a real hard time in the Soviet Union last summer because his trip coincided with the U.S. Senate's rousing sponsorship of World Refugee Year. But according to Dean Francis B. Sayre, Jr., chairman of the U.S. Committee for Refugees, our bark was bigger than our heart. "It is ironic," he writes, "that during World Refugee Year, of all times, there is no legislation on the books which would permit the entry of refugees into the United States, outside of our very limited quotas. Acceptance of a reasonable number of stateless persons of the world, including a fair share of so-called 'hard-core' cases is an absolute requisite to meaningful observance of World Refugee Year."

Child Can Be A Tax Deduction

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles on the federal income tax.) Even though your child may have earned more than $600 during 1959, he may be a possible tax deduction for you.

James L. McCrory, director of Internal Revenue for the Omaha District, explained that if you have furnished more than half of his support, you may claim an exemption for him regardless of the amount he earned, if he is under 19 years old.

Your child is still required to file an income tax return, however, if he had an income of $600 or more for the year.

If your offspring was 19 or over as of Jan. 1, 1960, you may still claim an exemption for him if he was a full-time student during some part of 5 calendar months in 1959, and if you meet the support test.

In addition to attendance in the regularly recognized high schools and universities, your child also would be considered a student if he is taking a full-time on-farm training course under the supervision of an agent of the state or a political subdivision, such as offered by the Veterans Administration.

He is NOT considered a full-time student if he is employed full time during the day and attends night school, or if he is taking a correspondence course or an employee training course.

McCrory emphasized that these special rules apply only to the taxpayer's own children, including adopted children and stepchildren.

Any other child, whether or not related to the taxpayer, may not be claimed as a dependent if he has a gross income of $600 or more, regardless of his age or his status as a student, and regardless of the fact that the taxpayer contributed over half of his support.

If you have any other questions about your federal income tax return, telephone your local internal revenue office, McCrory advised.

MEDICAL AIR AMBULANCE CO. GETS FEDERAL OK

Establishment of a medical air ambulance company as a new National Guard unit at Wahoo has received federal approval and will take place Feb. 1, Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch, state adjutant general, reported Friday.

A first shipment of five helicopters is en route, Col. Donald Penterman, assistant adjutant general, advised. Eventually authorized strength is 28 helicopters and 28 pilots. Thirteen pilots or potential pilots in various stages of training already have been recruited from reservist and guardsman ranks to form the cadre for the new company, Col. Penterman said.

Pilots will go to special schools for final training.

One of few such units in the country, the Wahoo company will provide the state with rescue services in blizzards, floods, tornadoes and other disasters.

Wahoo presently is the location for part of Company "A" of the first battle group of the 134th infantry, the company being split between Wahoo and Seward.

Effective Feb. 1 enlisted men in the Wahoo unit will be transferred to the new medical company. Company "A", instead of being a split company, will be totally based thereafter at Seward.

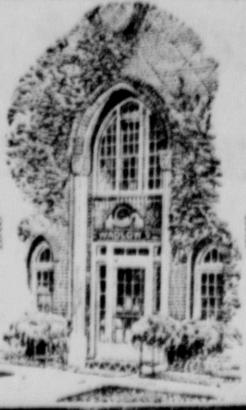

Construction of new armory facilities at Wahoo is expected to result from the change-over.

Congress earlier appropriated $115,000 for a Wahoo armory, but the funds have not yet been released by the federal budget bureau.

Creation of a new full company unit at Wahoo means new criteria for construction must be met, but Col. Penterman said "I have hopes we can answer all requirements and have the plans under way and approved for design and spacing in the next six months."

Our reputation for integrity and the highest standards of funeral service affords the deeply comforting assurance that everything will be as it should be.

Fuss Brews Over City Chamber Contribution

By Virgil Falloon

A Lincoln taxpayer's protest of the city's $1,284 contribution to the Chamber of Commerce's business development fund brought these developments Friday:

—The Chamber is preparing a summary of business development activities and fund expenditures for the City Council by Monday's meeting.

—Mayor Pat Boyles said he would welcome a court test of what the city can or cannot do.

—C. O. Blanchard, the protesting taxpayer, said he may take the case to court, but added: "A taxpayer shouldn't have to stand the burden of attorney fees."

Courthouse Fate Up To Voters, Say Supervisors

Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Beatrice — Whether Gage County constructs a new courthouse or repairs its burnt-out old one apparently will be decided at the polls without any recommendation from the county board.

Chairman August Grell said the 7 supervisors seemingly are in complete agreement that they should voice no opinion on the matter.

"We don't think we should recommend one way or the other," Grell explained. "Several hundred thousand dollars will be involved in either case and the taxpayers should have the say."

Grell said two attorneys have been retained and they plan to draw up both alternatives for the ballot, probably as a part of the May primary.

before the committee Friday at Lincoln.

The committee is studying whether it is feasible to increase the size of county superintendent districts to include two or more counties in a district with one superintendent to serve them.

Suggestion

It was suggested at the day-long meeting by S. H. Brauer, Jr. of Stuart that the Legislature do away with the fixed $15 a week free high school tuition reimbursement to a school and make available at actual cost to the school.

He said that smaller schools are losing money on the present rate while larger schools, with a larger enrollment, are making profits off of the reimbursements.

During the opening session State Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker told the committee that the Legislature could set up county school superintendent districts consisting of one or more counties.

Likely Repeat

"I don't think we need as many as we have," he said.

Decker said there were 20 counties in the last election where there were no filings for the office. The next election will probably be a repeat of this, he said.

Mrs. Ruth E. Woolever, supervisor of the Daughters of the Nile, was made an honorary member of the Naphis Temple 66 at the Scottish Rite Temple in Lincoln Friday.

Nebraska Council Of Churches OKs 'Friends' As Member

Recommends Elimination Of Capital Punishment

The Society of Friends was approved for membership by the Nebraska Council of Churches at their annual meeting at First Methodist Church here Friday.

The Friends' Society represents meeting (or congregations) of Lincoln, Omaha, Central City and Alda. The Lincoln group was already associated with the Lincoln Council of Churches.

A proposal to establish an interdenominational - interracial Work Camp in 1961, the first to be instituted in Nebraska was approved by the Council.

Denominations have appointed representatives to a planning committee, of which the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Sheagley of Wood River are chairmen; and they will direct the camp.

Capital Punishment

The Council adopted recommendation of its social action committee advocating legislation to eliminate the practice of capital punishment in Nebraska.

"In the spirit of numerous declarations by National Church Bodies, we affirm that the practice of executions of criminals is wrong, does not in fact deter crimes of murder and violence, complicates the exercise of justice, and denies the opportunity for rehabilitation and redemption. We, therefore, advocate legislation to eliminate the practice of capital punishment in Nebraska."

Dr. Carl Davidson, pastor of First Methodist Church, was re-elected president of the Council, and the Rev. Robert Morehead of York and Mrs. Herman Martz, president of the Nebraska Council of Church Women, were named vice presidents.

Other officers are: the Rev. Meredith Rogers of Lincoln, secretary; the Rev. Herbert Ford of Lincoln, secretary; the Rev. Grover Thompson of Lincoln, chairman of Christian education; Mrs. John Lainson of Hastings, chairman of Christian social action; the Rev. Fred Register of Lincoln, comity chairman, and the Rev. Carl Burkhardt Jr., chairman of ministerial fellowship.

$21,742 Budget

The group adopted a combined Lincoln Council and Nebraska Council budget of $21,742, with the Nebraska budget making up $16,650 of that amount.

Also approved was appointment of a committee by the Council executive committee to study the request of the Nebraska United Church Women to become a department of the Nebraska Council of Churches. The Council committee will meet with a committee of the UCW to study a closer relationship between the two organizations.

Upon the recommendation of the Council executive committee, with the advice of the finance committee, the Council approved a change in denomination payments for support of the Council, from the present .001% to .002% by 1963.

In support of the recommendation, the finance and executive committees pointed out reasons including: inadequate financial support of the Council at present; the need for money for new, special or expanded projects without having to ask the denominations for special contributions; the need for improved equipment in the Council office, and the need for salary increases.

Number Getting Old Age Aid Dip In December

The number of persons in Nebraska receiving old-age assistance in December decreased, but the obligations in federal, state and county funds increased, the welfare department reported Friday.

In December, 1959, there were 15,370 cases receiving total benefits of $1,107,026 for an average of $72.03 each as compared with December, 1958, when there were 16,099 who received $1,071,493 for an average of $66.56, the department reported.

The obligations include regular payments to recipients (average $47.84), matched medical vendor, and unmatched medical costs.

For aid to dependent children, 10,729 family members received $323,771 or an average of $30.18 per person, compared to December, 1958, when 10,664 received $300,384 for an average of $28.17.

In aid to the blind, 894 cases received $78,729 for an average of $88.06 compared to 956 receiving $77,410 for an average of $80.97 in December, 1958.

For aid to the disabled, 1,711 received $132,570 for an average of $77.48 compared to 1,500 receiving $108,916 in December, 1958, for an average of $72.61.

NEBRASKA CENTRAL ASSETS UP

Assets of the Nebraska Central Building and Loan Assn. increased $174,747.30 during 1959, or 2 1/2% over 1958, W. W. Folsom, association secretary, reported at the group's annual meeting Friday.

Police said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Simpson of 1805 No. 30th was listed in fair condition at a local hospital after he was in collision with a car on Potter between 30th and 31st.

Police said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Simpson, was attempting to cross the street at mid-block when he was in collision with a car driven by Gerald L. Knaub, 32, of 2222 No. 32nd.

The boy suffered possible internal injuries, hospital authorities said.

'Writer' Minus Funds Is Jailed

Lexington — A 37-year-old man, who lived lushly while claiming he was a news feature writer or a broadcasters' representative, was in Dawson County Jail Friday without funds to pay a fine of $30 and costs.

Police Chief Doyle W. Church identified him as J. Bernard Edelkamp Jr., no permanent address. Edelkamp was jailed in lieu of the fine, assessed in County Court for petit larceny.

Farm Managers Select Kindig

M. J. Kindig of North Platte was elected president of the Nebraska Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers at the annual meeting of the group in Lincoln Friday.

Other new officers are Glenn Peters of Omaha, vice president; Philip Henderson of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer, and Norris Hinton of Superior, director.

Church said Edelkamp ran out on a $5.45 gas bill at a Lexington service station, after saying he would sign for the bill as a representative of the National Assn. of Broadcasters.

When the attendant found he carried no credit card, cash was requested, and Edelkamp skipped town, Church said. He was arrested a short time later at Hol drige.

Wesleyan Speaker Is Optimistic

... About U.S. Future

A high note of optimism for continued prosperity in the United States was sounded by a New York business leader here Friday.

William H. Burkhardt, chairman of the board of Lever Brothers Co., said barring a sudden flare-up in the cold war or prolonged strikes in major industries, American business today appears poised for a new boom and record highs in productivity with a resultant increase in our standard of living."

Addressing a group of more than 100 Lincoln business and civic leaders at a luncheon sponsored by George A. Knight and the Citizens State bank to honor Nebraska Wesleyan University Founders Day award recipients, Mr. Burkhardt added:

"The very optimism and boldness of our national imagination, however, may conceal a grave danger. It may lead to a blissful complacency in fostering the idea that soaring predictions have some inherent power to make them come true."

"If there is one thing that we can be sure of, it is that the future must be earned—not predicted."

Meet Star Carrier Clifford Bill

The carrier salesman on Route K798 is Clifford Bill, son of Russell Bill of 2940 No. 11th.

Cliff is 11 years old and in the 6th grade at Belmont School where his favorite subjects are arithmetic and spelling.

A sports enthusiast Cliff is interested in football, baseball, basketball and swimming. When he can't get outside he keeps active with model planes and cars or with his projects in painting by numbers.

He is a Boy Scout Tenderfoot.

Cliff's parents think the route is good for him because it is teaching him responsibility, how to handle money and how to take care of a business.

From the $23 profit he makes every 4-week collection period, Cliff is saving some and spending the rest on his model collection, bibles and school.

Cliff's plans for the future include playing pro-basketball or perhaps coaching.

Real Estate Firm Files To Incorporate

Articles of incorporation were filed Friday with the Nebraska secretary of state's office by the P & M Corporation, Norfolk, a real estate firm.

Incorporators were J. Porter Daniel and Mary Daniel, both of Norfolk, and James L. Daniel of Pullman, Wash. The firm was authorized to issue $125,000 in capital stock.

Other filings, with amounts of capital stock authorized (except for non-profit associations):

The Contact Lens Education Assn. of Nebraska, Omaha; Drs. Janck D. Workman and William Higgins, both of Omaha; non-profit.

Dr. Harold Hall Gets NWU Award For Distinguished Teaching

A young teacher with a student inspired reputation as a stern academic taskmaster Friday was named as the 1960 winner of the Woods Award for Distinguished Teaching at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Thirty-six-year-old Dr. Harold E. Hall, professor of English and chairman of that department on the Wesleyan campus, received the award.

President Vance D. Rogers presented Dr. Hall with a check for $1,000 from the fund created by the Woods Charitable Fund, Inc. of Lincoln in 1957 to "perpetuate great teaching on the Wesleyan campus." Dr. Hall was also given a framed certificate, emblematical of the award.

A deep shroud of secrecy has surrounded Hall's selection in a poll of a select group of Wesleyan graduates and a final vote by members of the faculty.

Dean of the College, Dr. Sam Dahl assisted President Rogers in making the presentation.

Exacting Scholar'

Dr. Rogers described Hall as "... one who in my estimation represents to an exceptionally high degree those qualities that make for great teaching. He is a thorough, thoughtful and exacting scholar who is satisfied with nothing less than the best scholarship."

Our Symbol

One of our most treasured relics is the Liberty Bell. It is so-called because it was rung on July 8, 1776 to summons the citizenry for the terse announcement that the Declaration of Independence had been adopted. Today, it remains the greatest symbol of a nation free from tyranny in government and intolerance in religion

... that nation is America.

But one fact often overlooked is that when the historic bell was originally cast its makers turned to the Bible, to Leviticus, for the words inscribed around its contour: "Proclaim Liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." What a beginning! What a heritage! What a privilege to be a son or daughter of Freedom's Land. What a blessing to be an American.

How great is our Symbol!!!

Nancy's Northeast High School classmates were invited to the Olson home for the informal evening.

South took the club lead with the ace and drew three rounds of trumps. When he then led a heart to the ace, West showing out, he was in trouble. Only twelve sure tricks were available, since East had all five missing hearts.

The alternate line of play would have been to draw only two rounds of trumps and then lead a heart to the ace. In the actual case, this method would have succeeded. Declarer could continue with heart leads and ruff a heart in dummy to produce the thirteen trick.

The purpose of the heart lead after two rounds of trumps is to guard against the possibility the hearts are divided 5-0. Declarer hopes that, if this is the case, the defender with the five hearts also has the missing trump. Declarer's intention is to resume playing trumps if both opponents follow to the heart lead.

But having drawn three rounds of trumps, South had to resort to a squeeze to make the contract. After cashing the ace of diamonds and discarding a club, South

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

In some hands declarer gets two bites at the apple. Here is a hand where declarer missed his first opportunity and then got a chance to recover later in the play and bring home the grand slam.

But having drawn three rounds of trumps, South had to resort to a squeeze to make the contract. After cashing the ace of diamonds and discarding a club, South ran his three high hearts and two trumps.

When he led the last trump, declarer still had left in his hand the eight of hearts and seven of clubs.

Dummy's three cards consisted of the queen of diamonds and K-6 of clubs.

West's three cards, when the last trump was led, were the king of diamonds and 10-9 of clubs. West was squeezed.

He could not release the king of diamonds, which would make dummy's queen high, nor could he part with a club, which would make dummy's K-6 tricks.

So declarer made the grand slam as a result of the squeeze against West. He could have made the hand earlier by other means, but the defenders would not have had as good a run for their money.

Toastmistress Club Program

Mrs. Harry P. Gaylor presided at the Monday evening dinner-meeting of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club and Mr. Gaylor installed the club's new officers.

An impromptu program was under the direction of Mrs. Josephine Eyen and speakers included Miss Cora Mae Briggs, Miss Flora Henkelmann, Miss Leora Horning, Mrs. Wallace C. Peterson, Miss Esteline Porter, Mrs. Bryan Stromer, Miss Harriet Turner and Mrs. W. E. Woodworth.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Cora B. Briggs and Mr. Gaylor.

Slumber Party

Entertaining 32 eighth grade classmates from Southeast Junior High School on Friday evening, Jan. 22, were Miss Marianne Morrison and Miss Norma Jean Pace.

The affair was a slumber party held at the Pace home, and each of the guests arrived appropriately toting her sleeping bag.

We are sure that there are those around town who remember Mr. and Mrs. William H. Conroy, former Lincoln residents.

Certain of their friends have received invitations for a 50th wedding anniversary dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Conroy's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Conroy will be host and hostess at the Oahu Country Club in Honolulu on Tuesday, Jan. 26.

So far we have heard of no acceptances from Lincoln.

Law Officials May Indirectly Revise State's Traffic Laws

... As Result Of Legislative Safety Survey

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Wilber—The men who actually enforce Nebraska's traffic laws may indirectly have their greatest influence ever in revising them at the 1961 Legislative session.

Nearly 300 sheriffs, county attorneys and county judges from every Nebraska county are being surveyed by the Legislature's interim traffic safety committee headed by Sen. Joe Vosoba of Wilber. This number will probably be multiplied many times in the future, since current plans call also for polling all justices of the peace and city police departments.

"If we get good response we will have some real facts from which to draw conclusions," said Vosoba. "These men deal with the traffic laws every day and they have the correct statistics."

Different questionnaires have been mailed to each group, with specific information sought from the officials for the past two years. For example, sheriffs were asked how much of their duty time was devoted to traffic enforcement and how many arrests were made.

Judge Rules For No Action Against Solon

Grand Island — District Judge W. J. Manasi Friday entered an order sustaining the demurrer of Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island to a suit filed against him in November in connection with a real-estate transaction.

The effect was to rule that the petition against Lautenschlager failed to state a cause of action. Plaintiffs were allowed 20 days in which to file an amended petition if they choose.

The suit was brought by Stuart and Adelia Schepers. The petition alleged that Sen. Lautenschlager fraudulently purchased a quarter section of land from them for $24,000 and re-sold it for $32,000.

In a statement Friday, Sen. Lautenschlager said the petition's allegations had been without foundation.

He termed "false and without foundation" the petition's allegation that he had a test well drilled on the land, found the results favorable but did not tell the Schepers of the outcome until the property had been sold.

"In the first place," Lautenschlager said, "the test well was not drilled by myself or my uncle. Secondly, the test well was completed after the deed was recorded, and had it not been a successful test well there would not have been any value added to the land."

He added: "The owners owned this property for 14 years and had equal opportunity to have run a deep test well themselves. They listed the farm and they set their own price. I brought them the sale contract, they signed the deed and admitted that they were very happy with the same."

Services Monday For Dr. Bald, 73

Platte Center — Funeral services for Dr. Arno A. Bald, 73, physician in Platte Center more than 37 years before his retirement, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Gass Funeral Home chapel in Columbus.

He died in San Diego, Calif.

Born in Aurora, Dr. Bald was graduated from Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Ia., and the University of Nebraska College of Medicine. While living in Platte Center, he was active in the Platte County Red Cross, served on the school board and was chairman of the village board.

County attorneys were polled on the percentage of their prosecutions which were successful and how many cases involved drunken drivers. County judges were to indicate whether they followed a set schedule in determining fines, and what proportion of sentences were suspended.

Write-In Section

Numerous other questions were asked, and the committee hopes to gain especially from a write-in section urging the officials to make their own suggestions on the laws. Vosoba said it is believed this is the first time state law officials have had such a direct opportunity to influence lawmaking, since the committee itself is newly formed.

Compilations of the statistics will be made by the Legislative Council, and the senators will then review the findings.

Other members of the committee are Senators Sam Klaver of Omaha, Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island, Lewis Webb of Ogallala, Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, Arthur Swanson of Holdrege and Peter Claussen of Leigh.

SUGAR RAY FOILED

Pender Scores Split Decision

...Robinson Surrenders Title

Boston (P)—Paul Pender, an obscure former fireman from Brookline, Mass., who was a 5 to 1 underdog, won a two-state version of the world middleweight title Friday night on a split 15-round decision over champion Sugar Ray Robinson at the Boston Garden.

The two judges voted for Pender, ranked No. 10 in the division, while referee Joe Zapustas cast his ballot for the faded 39-year-old Sugar Man from New York.

Pender weighed 159 1/4, Robinson 159 1/4.

Misses Punches

Robinson, hampered by inactivity missed his big punches and failed to score with his combinations of old.

Pender, fighting a cautious battle, was content to jab, move and grab in the early rounds while trying to wear down Robinson. He stepped up the pace momentarily in the 4th and 5th and came on fast after he reached the 10th round.

Thus Robinson, who was stripped of part of his title by the National Boxing Association last year, lost the rest of it to a man who wasn't given much of a chance outside his immediate family and close friends.

He will be recognized, however, only by Massachusetts and New York while Gene Fullmer rules in the NBA states.

The big Garden crowd booed and jeered for more action with rhythmic handclaps in the middle rounds, but cheered madly as the split decision was announced.

There were no knockdowns in this battle of attrition with the old man trying his best for a knockout and his 29-year-old opponent hoping to wear him down.

Ray Goes Low

Robinson, starting his 21st year as a ring pro, did most of his heavy work with a left hook and a straight right to the body. Once the right strayed low to draw a warning from the referee. Many times it was so close to low territory that the ringside fans complained.

This was a pale copy of the old Robinson, missing his long right hand leads and failing to put together his flashy combinations. Still it was Sugar Ray applying the pressure most of the time.

When Pender became more daring and started to go to the attack in the 11th he drove through Robinson's defense with a right lead to the chin.

Judge Joe Santoro, whose vote was announced first, called it 147-138 in favor of Pender. Then referee Joe Zapustas' ballot for Robinson 146-142 was announced. Judge John Norton's call of 148-142 in favor of Pender drew cheers for the new champion.

The ice water in the veins of veteran Bob Hohn, Tom Bitting, and Jerry Naaf cooled the Pius scoring attack, which sadly lacked the floor play of Champoux.

Pius managed only 9 shots from the field as Beatrice went ahead 44-40 at the end of the 3rd canto.

Beatrice then slowed the game down in the final quarter, waiting for good shots. The Orange cashed 4 lay ins and 5 free throws while holding the frantic Thunderbolts to only 3 points.

Hohn led all scorers with 23 points. The versatile Orange man was in sole command throughout the second half.

Rohren topped Pius with 12 followed by Bohaty with 11 and Rohren with 10. Pius, now 5-4 for the season, hosts Omaha Cathedral tonight at 8.

St. Gervais, France (P)—Arlette Grosso of France Friday topped a small international field including Olympic champion Madeleine Berthod Chamot of Switzerland in the women's downhill race of the St. Gervais ski meet.
Now 7-1, Wesleyan Saturday night entertains Hastings College at Ira Taylor Gym. Game time is 7:30 p.m.
It was a cliff-hanger all the way, with both teams holding leads in the final half. Wesleyan had a 53-48 margin at halftime, but the Wildcats came back to go in front 61-60 with 16:30 left.
The lead changed hands twice again before NWU tied it at 73 with 3:30 left. Then the Plainsmen managed a 76-73 lead with only a minute left, but 2 free throws by Larry Berres pulled the Wildcats within one point. Raver then cinched the upset.
Wesleyan's Rudy Stoehr was the game's leading scorer with 24 points, registered on 8 and 8 free throws.
Berres led Wayne with a career high total of 22.
Helping Stoehr keep the Plainsmen dangerous was Jim Munford who tallied 20. Dennis Semin hit 15 for the losers.

NFL Adjourns Without Electing Commissioner

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — National Football League owners adjourned their conference Friday without electing a commissioner or acting on expansion and there was strong possibility they might not do either before the meeting ends.

The 12 club owners recessed until this morning.

Since acting commissioner Austin H. Gunsel opened the meeting Wednesday, the owners have legalized nylon cleats with metal tips, heard a few minor reports and listened to a proposal for a game in Miami's Orange Bowl between the league's two second place clubs.

Friday's session ended with the election of a commissioner tabled at least temporarily and the awaited expansion discussion still simply words on a list of constitutional amendments.

The owners spent about 3 hours on the task of naming a successor to the late Bert Bell but the seemingly hopeless deadlock was as clouded as when the meeting began.

There was no balloting at the early session. It was divided into separate meetings and caucuses seeking to come up with a compromise candidate.

Apparently supporters of attorney Marshall Leahy of San Francisco and backers of acting commissioner Gunsel and Don Kellett, Baltimore general manager, realized they couldn't get the 9 votes necessary to elect.

When the meeting resumed, the owners sidetracked the election to hear a proposal of Miami's Orange Bowl committee for a game between runnersup in the two NFL conferences.

The game would be played no sooner than 5 and no more than 10 days after the Orange Bowl game New Year's Day. The players pension fund would share in the receipts.

Mild Upswing

New York (P)—The stock market Friday carried a mild recovery move through its second straight session. Trading was light.

Despite late setbacks by most motors and an assortment of other industrials, gains of fractions to a point or so were made by most stocks.

Space stocks and selected issues which found speculative favor posted gains running to 2 or 3 points.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose .42 to 458.85.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .90 cents to $223.91 with the industrial average up .70 cents, up 60 cents and the utilities up .90 cents.

Of 1,219 issues traded, 559 rose and 400 fell. Net new for 1959 totalled 12,400 with 2,200 red.

Steels, chemicals, oils, rails and building materials were higher. Gains by asorted tobacco, drugs and rubbers helped.

Ten of the 16 most active stocks advanced, five declined, one was unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices also moved generally higher. Volume was 1,130,000 shares compared with 1,090,000 Thursday.

Omaha Child Dies

Omaha (P) — Four-year-old Margaret Ann Maddox was fatally burned Friday in a fire that swept through the family home in Omaha.

Fire Investigator Dan Mulcahey said the little girl was

Pawnee Citizen 104 Years Old

Pawnee City — Mrs. Mary Monagon, Pawnee County's oldest resident, reached her 104th birthday this week.

A resident of a Pawnee City rest home, she enjoys "fairly good health," and maintains an Mrs. Monagon interest in current activities, friends say.

Storm Sidelights:

Took Spalding Mail Carrier Week To Complete One Trip

Spalding (P) — It took a week to do the job, but John Schlaf has carried his mail route.

Schlaf left home on Jan. 14, to carry Route 1 out of Spalding and got back home a week later.

Schlaf got only as far as the William Glesinger farm, 9 miles north of Spalding, when his car became stuck in the snow.

He took shelter at the Glesinger farm, and thought for a time last Saturday he would get out. The snow plows were close. But more snow came, burying the roads under a new avalanche.

The roads finally were cleared and Schlaf headed for home.

Neighbor Assists Snowbound Birth

Clearwater — A neighbor who traveled via farm tractor and trailer, bypassing blocked roads, beat the stork to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stamp, southwest of Ewing, and delivered a 5-pound daughter to Mr. and

House Found For Blaze-Hit Family

Beatrice — The William Carter family of 9 children, losing their home and a good share of their belongings in a fire here last week, have moved into another house, according to Major Isabelle Boyington of the Salvation Army.

Three-year-old Steven Carter, who was seriously burned in the fire, is improving in a local hospital. Mrs. Carter, also burned by the flames, is expected to be dismissed soon from the hospital.

Inquest In Baby's Death Postponed

Falls City (P) — An inquest in the death of a baby whose body was found in a Falls City alley, has been postponed. Sheriff Irvin F. Gates said Friday.

The sheriff said he was taking the body to Lincoln for a pathological examination.

Richard County Attorney Henry Schepman said a woman was being questioned in connection with the case.

Stork Wins As Car Stalls In Extreme Cold

Grand Island (P) — The stork here, about two miles from its destination, Newlon attempted to fix the car, but as the birth appeared imminent, he also summoned the Grand Island Fire rescue unit.

But when the unit arrived, Mrs. Newlon already had given birth to a daughter in the back seat of the car. Rather than transfer the mother and newborn child to the ambulance in the sub-zero weather, the squadmen simply towed the Newlon car to the hospital.

Last report from the hospital was that the mother and daughter were "doing fine."

Registration At 200

Peru — Reservations for the 8th annual Schoolmen's Day at Peru State Teachers College, scheduled for Saturday, have been received from nearly 200 superintendents and instructors in a 4-state area.
